ABSTRACT

As the growing popularity of social networking sites (SNS) in recent years, many companies have recognized the potential of SNS as a competitive tool to connect with their customers and help them to achieve better business performance. The brand page is a popular product of SNS that allows companies to create their own profiles in SNS and provides companies with a platform to engage with their customers. The brand page can create added values for both companies and customers because it can help companies to increase brand awareness and also help customers to gain more brand knowledge. Past studies consider that increasing customers’ commitment and trust on the brand page are central to improving companies’ performance on the brand page. The aim of this thesis is to gain a better understanding of customers’ commitment and trust on the brand page based on the Commitment-Trust Theory, and use customer values based on the Customer Value Theory to explain the antecedents of customers’ commitment, trust, and relationship outcomes on the brand page. In particular, the thesis focuses on three customer values, namely, functional value, social value, and emotional value. This thesis focuses on four customer relationship outcomes: relationship durability, electronic word of mouth, continued interaction, and functional conflict.

To examine the above objectives, this thesis proposes a theoretical model which includes three model components: relationship antecedents (i.e., customer values), relationship mediators (i.e., brand page commitment and trust), and relationship outcomes (i.e., relationship durability, electronic word of mouth, continued interaction, and functional conflict). We propose positive relationships between relationship antecedents and relationship mediators, and between relationship mediators and relationship outcomes. We conceptualized functional value, social value, emotional value, brand page commitment, and brand page trust as second-order constructs. We identify their respective first-order constructs through an extensive literature review.

We verify our research model by using a data set collected in a Chinese social networking site – Sina Microblog. A total of 375 questionnaires are collected from users in Sina Microblog who have followed at least one brand page.

We adopt established measurement items in previous studies to measure the constructs in this thesis. All measurement items undergo vigorous tests of factor analysis and construct validity. We also assessed the validity of second-order constructs by using theoretical and statistical analysis.

We test our proposed model by using statistical technique of structural equation modelling (SEM). Partial least square (PLS) software package is used for data analysis. Our analysis confirms that social and emotional values significantly influence both brand page commitment and trust. Functional value is significantly related to brand page trust but not brand page commitment. In term of relationship outcomes, our findings show that both brand page commitment and trust significantly affect customers’ relationship durability, electronic word of mouth intention, continued interaction, and functional conflict. Our results also confirm the key mediating roles of brand page commitment and trust on the relationships between each of customer values and each of relationship outcomes.

In conclusion, this thesis makes two main contributions. First, it provides empirical evidence regarding the process of customer relationship development on the brand page. Our results reveal that customer values are salient drivers of customers’ commitment, trust, and relationship outcomes on the brand page. Second, it contributes to the Commitment-Trust Theory and the Customer Value Theory by exploring the content of each customer values, commitment, and trust in the context of SNS brand pages.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my sincerest gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Vincent W.S. Chow, for his tremendous support and invaluable guidance during the course of my study. Dr. Chow offered innumerable constructive and useful suggestions for the improvement of my research project. His help and encouragement during my study are valuable to me.

I would like to thank Dr. Ludwig M.K. Chang and Dr. Christy M.K. Cheung, for their valuable guidance and encouragement during the course of my study.

I would also like to thank Miss Clara Qin, Mr. Zach Lee, and Mr. Archie Guerra with whom I have spent very enjoyable three years at Hong Kong Baptist University. I would also like to thank my roommates, Miss Xiaoyu Zhou, Miss Yunzhu Liu, and Miss Yao Luo, for their encouragement and companionship during my stay in Hong Kong.

Finally, I would like to thank my parents (Mr. Zhongzhi Shi and Mrs. Xiulan He) and my boyfriend (Mr. Junchao Li) who have given me unlimited love, consistent support, and encouragement during the course of my study.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

DECLARATION .................................................................................................i

ABSTRACT ........................................................................................................ ii

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS .................................................................................... iv

TABLE OF CONTENTS ..................................................................................... v

LIST OF TABLES ................................................................................................... ix

LIST OF FIGURES ............................................................................................... x

CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION .............................................................................. 1
  1.1. Research Background .............................................................................. 1
      1.1.1. Business Implications in Social Networking Sites ....................... 1
      1.1.2. The Brand Page ............................................................................. 2
      1.1.3. Commitment and Trust Issues on the Brand Page ....................... 3
  1.2. Purpose, Scope, and Research Justifications ......................................... 6
  1.3. Overview of the Research Model ............................................................ 9
  1.4. Organization of this Thesis ................................................................... 10

CHAPTER 2 LITERATURE REVIEW ................................................................... 12
  2.1. Social Networking Site ........................................................................... 13
  2.2. The Brand Page ...................................................................................... 16
  2.3. The Commitment-Trust Theory ............................................................... 17
      2.3.1. Commitment .................................................................................. 21
      2.3.2. Trust ............................................................................................. 25
  2.4. Relationship Antecedents ...................................................................... 28
      2.4.1. Relationship Antecedents in CTT ............................................... 28
      2.4.2. The Customer Value Theory ......................................................... 29
      2.4.3. Functional Value .......................................................................... 37
      2.4.4. Social Value .................................................................................. 40
      2.4.5. Emotional Value .......................................................................... 42
  2.5. Relationship Outcomes .......................................................................... 44
      2.5.1. General Observations .................................................................. 44
      2.5.2. Relationship Outcomes on the Brand Page .................................. 45
      2.5.3. Relationship Durability .................................................................. 48
2.5.4. Electronic word of mouth ........................................... 48
2.5.5. Continued Interaction ................................................. 49
2.5.6. Functional Conflict ................................................... 50

CHAPTER 3 METHODOLOGY .................................................. 51
3.1. Research Model Development ........................................ 51
3.2. Research Model and Hypotheses .................................. 54
  3.2.1. Effects of Customer Values on Brand Page Commitment ..... 56
  3.2.2. Effects of Customer Values on Brand Page Trust ............. 59
  3.2.3. Effect of Brand Page Trust on Brand Page Commitment ..... 62
  3.2.4. Effects of Brand Page Commitment on Relationship Outcomes ........................................ 63
  3.2.5. Effects of Brand Page Trust on Relationship Outcomes .... 67
  3.2.6. Control Variables .................................................. 71
  3.2.7. Summary of Hypotheses ......................................... 72
3.3. Instrument Development ............................................. 74
  3.3.1. Measurement Items of the Constructs in the Research Model .... 74
  3.3.2. Questionnaire Design ........................................... 81
3.4. Research Sampling and Data Collection Procedure ............ 83
  3.4.1. Potential Respondents and Questionnaire Translation ........ 83
  3.4.2. Data Collection Procedure ..................................... 84
3.5. Statistical Analysis Methods ....................................... 85
  3.5.1. Measurement Model Assessment ................................. 85
  3.5.2. Validation of Second-order Constructs ......................... 88
  3.5.3. Structural Model Assessment ................................... 92

CHAPTER 4 SAMPLING PROFILES ......................................... 97
4.1. Demographic Information of Respondents .......................... 97
4.2. Mean Scores and Standard Deviations of Constructs ............. 99

CHAPTER 5 RESULTS ....................................................... 101
5.1 Measurement Model Assessment ..................................... 101
  5.1.1 Content Validity .................................................. 101
  5.1.2 Convergent Validity .............................................. 102
  5.1.3 Discriminant Validity ............................................ 104
  5.1.4 Reliability ........................................................ 106
  5.1.5 Common Method Bias ............................................ 107
CHAPTER 5 VALIDATION OF SECOND-ORDER CONSTRUCTS

5.2. Validation of Second-order Constructs ...................................................... 107
  5.2.1. Theoretical Analysis ................................................................. 108
  5.2.2. Statistical Analysis ................................................................. 109

5.3. Structural Model Assessment ............................................................... 117
  5.3.1. Direct Relationships ................................................................. 117
  5.3.2. Indirect Relationships ............................................................ 125

CHAPTER 6 DISCUSSIONS AND IMPLICATIONS ............................................... 132

6.1. Overall Result Findings ........................................................................ 132
6.2. Effects of Customer Values on Brand Page Commitment ....................... 133
  6.2.1. Functional Value ................................................................. 134
  6.2.2. Social Value ............................................................... 135
  6.2.3. Emotional Value ............................................................... 136

6.3. Effects of Customer Values on Brand Page Trust .................................... 137
  6.3.1. Functional Value ................................................................. 138
  6.3.2. Social Value ............................................................... 139
  6.3.3. Emotional Value ............................................................... 140

6.4. Effect of Brand Page Trust on Brand Page Commitment ......................... 141
6.5. Effects of Brand Page Commitment on Relationship Outcomes .............. 142
6.6. Effects of Brand Page Trust on Relationship Outcomes ......................... 144
6.7. Mediating Role of Brand Page Commitment .......................................... 145
6.8. Mediating Role of Brand Page Trust .................................................... 146
6.9. Multiple Mediating Roles of Brand Page Commitment and Trust ............... 147

CHAPTER 7 CONCLUSION ........................................................................... 150

7.1. Overview of Research Findings ............................................................ 150
7.2. Contributions of this Research ............................................................. 151
  7.2.1. Contributions to the Theory Development ...................................... 151
  7.2.2. Contributions to the Practices ..................................................... 154

7.3. Limitations and Future Research Directions .......................................... 157
  7.3.1. Limited Focus on Relationship Antecedents ................................. 157
  7.3.2. Conceptual View of Customer Relationship Quality ....................... 158
  7.3.3. Conceptualization of Second-order Constructs .............................. 158
  7.3.4. Negative Relationships ............................................................ 158
  7.3.5. Cultural Differences ............................................................... 159
  7.3.6. Industry Differences ............................................................... 159
Data Collection Method .......................................................... 160
Control Variables .............................................................. 160

REFERENCES ........................................................................... 162
APPENDIX A ........................................................................... 181
APPENDIX B ........................................................................... 187
CURRICULUM VITAE ............................................................... 193